DIDAKTICKÝ TEST – POSLECH, ČTNÍ A JAZYKOVÁ KOMPETENCE

Maximální bodové hodnocení: 95 bodů
Hranice úspěšnosti: 44 %

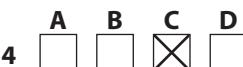

1 Základní informace k zadání zkoušky

- Didaktický test obsahuje 64 úloh.
- Časový limit pro řešení didaktického testu je uveden na záznamovém archu.
- Povolené pomůcky: pouze psací potřeby.
- U každé části je uvedena váha části/úlohy v bodech, např.:
10 bodů / 2 body znamená, že v celé části můžete získat nejvýše 10 bodů a za jednu správnou odpověď získáte 2 body.
- U všech úloh je právě jedna odpověď správná.
- Za nesprávnou nebo neuvedenou odpověď se neudělují záporné body.
- Odpovědi pište do záznamového archu.
- Poznámky si můžete dělat do testového sešitu, nebudou však předmětem hodnocení.
- Nejednoznačný nebo nečitelný zápis odpovědi bude považován za chybné řešení.

2 Pravidla správného zápisu odpovědí

- Odpovědi zaznamenávejte modré nebo černé příscí propisovací tužkou, která píše dostatečně silně a nepřerušovaně.
- Hodnoceny budou pouze odpovědi uvedené v záznamovém archu.

2.1 Pokyny k uzavřeným úlohám

- Odpověď, kterou považujete za správnou, zřetelně zakřížkujte v příslušném bílém poli záznamového archu, a to přesně z rohu do rohu dle obrázku.

4 A B C D
- Pokud budete chtít následně zvolit jinou odpověď, pečlivě zabarvěte původně zakřížkované pole a zvolenou odpověď vyznačte křížkem do nového pole.

4 A B C D

- Jakýkoli jiný způsob záznamu odpovědí a jejich oprav bude považován za nesprávnou odpověď.

2.2 Pokyny k otevřeným úlohám

- Odpovědi pište čitelně do vyznačených bílých polí.

- Povoleno je psací i tiskací písmo a číslice.
- Při psaní odpovědí rozlišujte velká a malá písmena.
- Pokud budete chtít následně zvolit jinou odpověď, pak původní odpověď přeškrtněte a novou odpověď zapишte do stejného pole. Vaše odpověď nesmí přesáhnout hranice vyznačeného pole.

Boys in Skirts

The boys from Exeter Academy, England, asked permission to wear shorts in summer because it was too hot to sit in trousers all day. They complained that girls were in a better situation because they could wear skirts. However, their teacher answered that shorts were not part of the school uniform. The boys' parents supported their children and argued that the boys' health was more important than their clothes. When they asked what the teacher suggested the boys should do, she replied that they could wear skirts if they liked. And that's exactly what the boys did – they showed up in skirts the next day. The girls laughed at them first but then agreed that it was the only way for the boys to cool themselves down. Exeter Academy is now planning to update the school uniform rules, which would allow boys to wear shorts in summer.

(www.bbc.com, upraveno)

25 Whose idea was it for the boys to wear skirts to school?

- A) It was the girls' idea.
- B) It was the boys' idea.
- C) It was the parents' idea.
- D) It was the teacher's idea.

My Name Is Pádraig

Before I was born, there had been a lot of discussion in our family about the name I should be given. For my parents, it was a serious issue because both came from different countries. My father wanted an Irish name. In his family children always got a name connected to their culture. However, my mother demanded that I was given the name of her father because it was passed down through generations. Fortunately, her father was called Patrick – the English version of the Irish name Pádraig – so they decided to accept my father's family custom and use the Irish spelling instead of the more common English one. Then when I was born, the doctor asked for my name and my mum – stressed and tired – told the doctor the name but she couldn't remember the correct spelling. As the doctor was ready to write 'Patrick', Dad stopped him and gave him the correct Irish spelling. Nevertheless, my sister loved to call me Paddy – short for Pádraig – and the whole family still calls me that today.

(CZVV)

26 Why is the man's name Pádraig?

Because:

- A) his sister loved that name.
- B) his parents respected their family traditions.
- C) his mother's doctor made a spelling mistake.
- D) his mother's father's name was spelt this way.

In the Middle Ages in England, when the horse was the king of the road, you never knew who you would meet on the road. Travellers kept to the left because they wanted to make sure that if a stranger passed on the right and behaved in an unfriendly way, they could take their sword¹ out easily. And because most were right-handed, they liked to keep their right hands free and so they kept their horses to the left. During that time, this was the unofficial rule of the road. With The Highway Act², it became an official rule in 1835. The conservative British still follow it while most other Europeans drive on the right.

(www.straightdope.com, upraveno)

² act: zákon, nařízení

27 What is the best headline for this article?

- A) Why are most British drivers right-handed?
- B) Why do the British drive on the left-hand side?
- C) Why do the British refuse to accept an official rule?
- D) Why do the British call the horse "the king of the road"?

Suspended Coffee

It may sound like the latest trend but the so-called "suspended coffee" has been served in cafés for over ten years now. It started one day in Italy when a customer paid for a cup of coffee in advance. It was left there for any stranger who doesn't have enough money to pay for his own. And that's what "suspended coffee" means – paid and waiting for another guest. The tradition quickly spread all over the world and although cafés are not the ones which made suspended coffee widely known, they're glad that offering it has brought them more customers. Many of them come in to enjoy their evening coffee, and very often leave extra money for a suspended one. What's interesting is that café websites don't say whether they offer suspended coffee or not. People who want suspended coffee just come to the café and ask for it. Then they tell others and that's how the information about suspended coffee is spread.

(www.mnn.com, upraveno)

28 What is true about "suspended coffee" according to the text?

- A) Evening guests rarely give money for it.
- B) Guests buy it for themselves for next time.
- C) More guests began coming to cafés because of it.
- D) Guests who drink it found out about it on café websites.

And the Winner Is...

We see more than a million pet injuries¹ each year, but some are really strange! Every year, The Veterinary Pet Insurance Company gives a Hambone Prize for the year's most unusual injury. This year, the first three places went to several dogs for the following strange injuries: Third place went to a poodle that ate some broken glass. That wasn't as bad as what a border collie and a terrier, which both took second place, did. The border collie ran through a window and bit a postman and the terrier bit a poisonous scorpion. But a one-year-old Labrador retriever from California, called Ellie, beat them in this competition. She ate thousands of bees that had been killed by pesticide. Luckily, all the dogs recovered and could come to collect their prize.

29 What did this year's winner of the Hambone Prize do?

- A) It bit a scorpion.
- B) It bit a postman.
- C) It ate dead bees.
- D) It ate broken glass.

WATERFORD HALL OF RESIDENCE RULES

To make everyone's life in the hall of residence during the academic year as comfortable and safe as possible, please follow these rules:

SECURITY AND VISITORS

Every resident¹ receives a resident ID card which also serves as a key to the building of hall of residence. We advise you to check that the main entrance door closes behind you when you enter or leave. Please show your resident ID card to the receptionist when asked. The ID card also serves as a key to your room, but make sure you never leave it unlocked. Residents must not lend their ID resident cards to anyone, including guests.

Residents can have visitors in their rooms during the day and overnight as well. A book for guests is kept at reception where the receptionist will ask your guest to provide his/her name, your room number, your name and the date of his/her departure, which the receptionist will write down in the guestbook. After your guest is signed in, you are free to pick him/her up.

Guests of residents in single rooms may stay for up to three nights without any permission. Residents in double rooms may have an overnight guest only with their roommate's permission. All residents who plan to receive guests in any room for more than three nights must request permission by e-mail from the hall of residence management at least one week in advance.

COMMON ROOMS

Kitchens – Access is not time-limited. On Friday evenings, any dirty plates and other dirty dishes anywhere in the kitchen will be put in the outside bins by the cleaning service. So wash your dishes if you don't want to lose them!

All food kept in the fridge must be in plastic containers. Make sure you put the date on them. The date should say when you put the food in. Putting your name on them is not required. Every month, the cleaning service throws away any food not in a plastic container and plastic containers without a date.

To recycle, use the coloured recycling bins located in each kitchen. We ask you to take special care with used cooking oil – it always goes into a recycling bin. Please never pour it into the kitchen sink! Unless you want to use the used cooking oil again, put it in a jar or a tin and put it into the black recycling bin.

Library – Open every day from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. You can study from the books in the library but please note that borrowing them is not possible. Access is free for residents. Guests of residents also have free entry. Other visitors must pay £1/hour.

Computer room – All the computers here are available non-stop. Access to the computer room, as well as using the computers, is free. However, we charge 60 pence an hour between 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. The computers are busy all the time, so it is necessary to have a reservation. Entry to the computer room is allowed only for ID resident card owners. Please note that the ID resident cards cannot be lent to anyone, including guests.

Laundry room² – Three washing machines are available daily. With only a limited number of washing machines, we demand that you make a reservation at reception. The limit is one wash per person per day.

STAYING OVER SUMMER

Once the academic year is over, apart from residents from abroad, residents are asked to leave as the rooms will be offered to tourists and other guests.

Japanese language

by Ben Melton

'Knowing Japanese opens the door to a fascinating new world! You'll be able to learn basic things in as little as six months.' That's what I read in an advertisement in a newspaper when I decided to learn Japanese. I didn't believe it then, but the advertisement was actually right. I understood the grammar rules very quickly as they weren't difficult. What I had problems with was understanding how sentences are made. One of the reasons was that I had to be careful who I was speaking to – whether someone older or younger than me. That's why realizing how to put words together was the most difficult part for me to learn. Pronunciation, the usual difficult thing for students to learn, was easier than I'd expected. Even learning to write the Japanese symbols wasn't as hard as learning to create sentences.

When I visited Japan for the first time, my Japanese was still poor. However, even if you can use only a few Japanese phrases, you'll be surprised how friendly and talkative the Japanese are. It wasn't unusual for them to walk with me to my destination, even though they were originally going in the opposite direction. On the other hand, when they heard me say "Excuse me" in English, they just disappeared. I found out that it wasn't because they didn't want to help me, they just felt ashamed that they couldn't speak English well enough. So knowing some basic Japanese phrases before my first trip to Japan proved useful.

Before returning to Japan, I decided to improve my Japanese with a tutor¹. Many people recommended that I study with a native speaker. So I tried several teachers whose mother tongue was Japanese but when I asked them something in the lesson, they only repeated the previous lecture. They were almost like actors and sometimes they seemed to have a hard time answering even simple questions. Studying with them was boring and tiring, so in the end I decided to study with a teacher whose mother tongue wasn't Japanese. The lessons were exciting and effective at the same time because he was able to answer all my questions. That was because he had learned Japanese as a foreign language, too.

I first came into contact with Japanese culture at the age of 12 through films about karate. I liked the atmosphere of the films. But to start studying the language, you need stronger motivation. That came after I attended a course about the tea ceremony, a traditional practice in Japan. I learned to prepare and serve tea with attention to every detail. The teacher also told us why and how things were done during the ceremony. I became friends with the Japanese teacher and his assistants and although they spoke very good English, I suddenly wanted to be able to communicate with them in their language about things other than tea. That's why I signed up for Japanese lessons. Today, I often travel to Asia because of my work projects. When I'm in Japan, my Japanese business partners believe I learned the language because of them. Although my reasons weren't that practical, speaking the language now definitely is: I can watch my favourite Japanese films about karate without subtitles.

It's not only the language that's interesting. It's the way the Japanese behave, too. We shake hands, they bow². We exchange business cards using one hand, they use both. We do business in an office, they do it in the pub. I could go on and on with more and more various examples like these. There would be myriad things on my list of examples, as many things as there are stars in the sky: impossible to count.

INTERESTING PLACES IN THE HILLBURY AREA

A)

The Glenn Museum was built in a place where family houses stood two centuries ago. The place now belongs to the museum and you can see the ruins with our guide. He will give you more information about life in the region 200 years ago. You can also visit the market stalls outside the museum to see works by famous artists who live in the area. For a warm lunch, please visit our restaurant in the museum building. The tearoom is currently closed. We are open every weekend from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

B)

The Coulton House Park offers an amazing outdoor performance this month. Come and see local actors showing visitors how locals lived two centuries ago. For example, what they wore, what they ate. There's no exhibition in the Coulton House itself but there's a restaurant there which serves warm lunch. Our tearoom is closed this month. The park is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. We are closed on weekdays.

C)

The Exmore Museum is a place where modern digital technologies and historical objects tell the stories of people who lived in this area 200 years ago. You can see the objects these people used in everyday life. There's also the museum park where we plan to start an outdoor exhibition next spring. People in costumes will be showing how products used to be made. On the ground floor, there is a cosy restaurant which serves warm meals. We are open from Saturday to Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

D)

The Wilmore House and its gardens offer both indoor and outdoor exhibitions of photographs of everyday life in the region today. They were taken by Jim Hardy, a photographer, who lives in the area. It is his second exhibition, the first one took place 2 years ago and showed photos of items used by locals 200 years ago. A tiny tearoom in the garden serves delicious teas only. We are open from Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We are closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

E)

The Pierce Museum is a place where you can learn something about how people lived in the region 200 years ago. You will have an opportunity to see billboards with photos of restored furniture and other household items. You can now see them all in the museum park as the building itself is currently closed. It will open again next year with an exhibition about how locals live today. There is a small tearoom in the park, it serves only drinks. We are open every day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

F)

The Gilbert Museum and its gardens offer a unique exhibition of statues of famous foreigners who lived 200 years ago. They were made by well-known local artists, Jim Gilbert and his wife Fiona, who live in the area. This exhibition is their third and you can see it both inside the museum and in the gardens. There is a tearoom serving hot tea in the museum building itself, and a garden restaurant which offers warm meals. We are open from Monday to Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

G)

The Mercer Museum is a museum with indoor exhibitions only. The exhibition on the 1st floor attracts visitors with a collection of household items found outside the town in the fields. All these objects were used by local people 200 years ago. On the 2nd floor, you will find an exhibition of photos by a famous photographer from London. They show the lives of modern local people, including celebrations. You can have a cup of tea in our tearoom. We don't serve meals. We are open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
